

The University of Akron College of Nursing and CaseNEX, a leader in e-learning, offer the highest quality gerontology courses designed for registered nurses in this key specialty area. The courses were developed and are facilitated by the college of nursing faculty.

CaseNEX employs a research-based, 5-Step Method of case analysis that healthcare specialists can utilize in their everyday professional lives. This framework allows healthcare professionals to address problems with a basis for interpretation and provides them with the ability to solve problems with confidence.

- Participants employ case methods and use an authentic, multimedia case library. Videos are embedded into the course and these form the basis for the cases. Video interviews from interdisciplinary experts in the field are utilized.
- Courses are accessed through a web-based learning environment and delivered fully online.
- All multimedia cases are iPod-enabled to accommodate learning on the go!

Available October 19, 2009 is a twenty four (24) contact hour online program for those seeking continuing education (CE) credit.

Our gerontology course offers holistic context addressing health, social, personal, and political issues. Use of a case study approach will help hone effective decision-making skills essential for deciding appropriate action regarding complex issues encountered in authentic gerontological nursing environments. Learning takes place within the context of a highly collaborative and engaging online learning forum. The course is self paced so you can work on your own time at your own pace. Support is offered by an engaged faculty expert in gerontological nursing.

COMMENTS FROM STUDENTS WHO PREVIOUSLY TOOK THIS COURSE:

- This offering provided a great perspective on the experiences of the elderly client.
- I acquired new tools to implement. The material within the web site is easily accessed and manipulated for increased learning effect.
- I would recommend this course to colleagues. There were many resources that can help improve clinical practice for field nurses.
- I look forward to other computer based learning opportunities from your institution.
