EDUCATION AND TRAINING

Terminal Degree: PhD (Management Info. Systems), University of Arizona, June, 1985
Master's Degree: MS (Computer Science), University of Virginia, June, 1981
Bachelors Degree: BSE (with honors), Princeton University, June, 1979

ACADEMIC EXPERIENCE

Teaching Experiences:

Assistant Professor, 1985-1991, Georgetown University School of Business
Associate Professor, 1991-2000, Georgetown University School of Business
Associate Professor, 2000-present, The University of Akron College of Business Administration, Management Department

Undergraduate courses taught:

Decision Support with Data Warehousing & Data Mining (U of Akron)
Decision Support Systems/Expert Systems (U of Akron)
Management Project (U of Akron)
Introduction to E-Business (U of Akron)
Introduction to Information Systems (GU)
Emerging Issues in Information Management (GU)
Business Databases (GU)
Electronic Commerce (GU)
Social Marketing and the WWW (GU)

Graduate courses taught:

Knowledge Management (U of Akron, GU)
Management Information Systems (U of Akron)
Advanced MIS (U of Akron)
Information Systems (GU)
Business Databases (GU)
Electronic Commerce (GU)
ProSeminar in Communications, Culture, and Technology (GU)
Business Ventures in the (former) USSR (GU)
Advanced Technical Russian (U of Arizona)

Committee Member for Dissertations:

- Stapleton, Ross Alan, "Personal Computing in the CEMA Community: A Study of International Technology Development and Management," Ph.D. Dissertation, The University of Arizona Management Information Systems Department, Summer 1988.
- Wolcott, Peter, "A Study of Soviet High Speed Computing," Ph.D. Dissertation, The University of Arizona Management Information Systems Department, June, 1993.

Masters Theses Supervised:

- Lentz, David, "Indicators for Profitability: Determining a Successful Electronic Commerce Strategy By Reading Product and Market Characteristics," Masters Thesis, Georgetown University Communications, Culture and Technology Program, Spring 1999.
- Thiel, Shayla, "The Community/Customer Connection: Strengthening Business-to-Customer Relationships Through Virtual Community," Masters Thesis, Georgetown University Communications, Culture and Technology Program, Spring 1999.
- Ivarone, Jason, "Success Factors of Local Online Communities: a Case Study," Masters Thesis, Georgetown University Communications, Culture and Technology Program, Fall, 1999.
- Connally, Bree, "Status of The Internet in The Philippines: a Case Study," Masters Thesis, Georgetown University Communications, Culture and Technology Program, Spring 2000.
- Polsky, Marissa, "The Internet in Kazakhstan: Diffusion, Institutions, and Culture," Master's Thesis, Center for Russian and East European Studies, Georgetown University, Washington, D.C., Spring, 2002. (2nd reader)

Professional Training:

- First Energy, Annual Executive Management Course, April, 2007
- Electronic Commerce Module in Executive Education course on Global Marketing, Georgetown University McDonough School of Business, May, 2000.
- "Electronic Commerce: Change is Inevitable," Presentation at the Global Link Electronic Commerce Symposium '98, Lansdowne Resort, Leesburgh, VA, March 12, 1998.

Conferences and Seminars:

- "Sourcing Research: Some Thoughts and a Case Study," Shaping the Future of IT, Eller School of Management 30th Anniversary Conference, Nov. 3-6, 2004, Tucson, AZ
- "The Maturation of the Russian Offshore Programming Industry," CBA Management Department Research Seminar, Spring, 2004 (Shorter version given to CITE board, April, 2004)
- "Studying the Digital Divide with the MOSAIC Group Methodology," World Telecommunication/ICT Indicators Meeting, International Telecommunications Union, Geneva, Switzerland, 15-17 January, 2003.

- “The Internet in Russia,” Georgetown University, Science and Technology in International Affairs Colloquium, Nov. 15, 1999.
- “Y2K in Russia: Threats and Consequences,” Greater Washington Area Technology Showcase, Sept. 1, 1999.
- “The Year 2000 Problem in Russia,” Georgetown University, Science and Technology in International Affairs Colloquium, April 20, 1999.
- “The Students’ World Wide Web Server at Georgetown: A Novel Approach to Connectivity” (in Russian), Relarn ‘95, 2nd Annual Conference of the Association of Scientific and Educational Organizations and Users of the Relarn Computer Networks, Moscow, Dec. 19-20, 1995.
- “Business Information and the Internet” (in Russian), Seminar on Business Applications of Computer Networks, International Centre for Scientific and Technical Information, Moscow, April, 1994.
- “Sending Business Information to the Internet from Russia,” Keynote address (in Russian), Third Conference on the Future of Electronic Communications, TEK ‘93, Moscow, Russia, June 28-29, 1993.
- “An Overview of Software Engineering Visualization Tools in the West (in Russian),” Software Engineering in the 90s Conference, Kiev, USSR, May, 1991.
- “Soviet MIS in the Current Climate of Uncertainty,” Center for Business and International Trade, Georgetown University, Nov. 28, 1990.
- “The Soviet Computer Industry and Perestroika: 1990 and Beyond,” presented at the U.S. Government Information Resources Management Conference, IRMCO-90, Richmond, Va., Sept. 5, 1990.
- “The Emerging Information Society,” Presentation for the TRW Workshop, Center for Business and International Trade, Georgetown University, May, 1990.
- “The Collective Use of Personal Computers: PCs in the USSR,” Seminar presented at George Washington University, series on the Information Age, Mar., 1989.
- Lectured to Soviet MIS Class (in Russian) on “The Strategic Value of Information Systems,” Moscow Institute of Mining Technology, Oct. 29, 1988.
- Presentation at Dataease User's Group Meeting, Washington DC, in July, 1988 on “Database Design Using Dataease.”
- U.S. Government Information Resources Management Conference (IRMCO-87), Sept. 11, 1987, Richmond, Virginia, Plenary address on the state of Soviet computing.
- Presentation at the 3rd World Congress on Slavic Studies, Washington, D.C., Nov. 2, 1985, “Using Electronic Networks in Soviet Studies.”

"Using Free Web-Based Resources to Start a Small Business," Presentation for the National Foundation for Teaching Entrepreneurship, Georgetown University, Oct. 22, 1999. Program updated and repeated the following year.

Over the years my community service has centered around musical activities. From spring 1998 I played principal 2nd trumpet with the Georgetown University Orchestra. I played with the Jim Fox Big Band, which regularly gave free concerts for the elderly. Before this I played in several church orchestras, and now play from time to time at Pilgrim United Church of Christ in Cuyahoga Falls. For three years I played with the Washington Hexagon group, which wrote and produced an original musical every year, donating many thousands of dollars to charities as a result. I have volunteered for a number of other community-based and community college musical theater productions as well.
