M'Intosh*, although you are welcome to read it. In essence, it reflects the proposition that the person that is "first in time" to discover and possess something will become its owner as long as the thing (or land) is not owned by anyone else. The assigned notes reflect and discuss these principles. You should ask yourself why "first in time" is an appropriate principle to follow. Then consider what constitutes "first in time." Be prepared to discuss why Pierson v. Post came out as it did. Why didn't Post qualify as "first in time" under the circumstances? How would you argue that he should have won the case?

Opt: Aman, Administrative Law Hornbook, 2nd ed., West Law. (ISBN: 0314238751)

Assignment: Register for the TWEN website for the class.

Koch, Jordan and Murphy, Administrative Law: Cases and Materials, 5th ed. through Subchapter 1B, pgs. 1-41.

This material raises a number of philosophical questions:

- * To what extent and when is the community responsible for protecting or assuring the well being of its members?
- * What is the role of government in meeting that responsibility?
- * How should government fulfill its role? Criminal prosecution? Regulation? Providing subsidies or other financial benefits?

Those with the last names beginning with A-H should view the materials from Abby's (and her mother's) point of view – skeptical of reliance upon government. (See Lessons 1B.1, p. 9 and 1B.2, pg. 34). Those with the last names beginning with I-Z should view the materials from the point of view of Ben, the apparently idealistic new agency employee.

What arguments would Ben and his colleagues make in favor of the new Wine Trade Commission? How might Abby or her mother respond?

You need to read through the Wine Trade Commission Act in Appendix I, page AI-1.

Koch, Jordan & Murphy, Chapter 1C.1, pages 41-60

Prepare to discuss the questions raised in Lesson 1C.1, p. 42. In light of the structure of the Wine Trade Commission and the powers delegated to the agency, what constitutional objections might an opponent (Abby, perhaps) raise about the agency? How would an agency supporter respond?

On TWEN, see The Three Branches – Where Agency Fit. You can also check out other agency organization charts.
