Appendix A: Use an Outlook Rule to Manage Recruiting Solutions E-mail to Approver

Discussion

Per Microsoft Help, a rule is an action that Microsoft Office Outlook takes automatically on an arriving or sent message that meets the conditions that are specified in the rule. The Rules and Alerts Wizard is used to choose conditions and actions. Rules do not operate on messages that have been read, only on those that are unread.

Recruiting Solutions automatically generates e-mail as a part of its workflow system. These e-mails notify individuals of the tasks that they need to perform, such as an approval or review, and of the status of a job or application.

To manage these numerous e-mails, it is suggested that a folder may be created in Outlook into which these e-mails are delivered, based on an Outlook rule.

The steps shown here use the example of creating a folder that will receive all e-mail messages with the text “approval is requested” or “approval is required” in the subject. When this rule is created, e-mail with that text in the subject is delivered to the folder indicated. This mail is not delivered to the Inbox. The mail that follows the rule is delivered to the folder indicated in the rule.

The automatically generated e-mails in Recruiting Solutions are a system function. It is an all or nothing function, i.e. either e-mail is generated for all people, who are involved, or e-mail is not generated for anyone. We cannot turn off automatically generated e-mail for an individual.
