Dr. Lance Svehla

Film Appreciation initiates students into the thoughtful study of film as visual narrative. Though theory may (at times) be discussed, this course is not theory-based. Instead, our emphasis will be on the dramatic choices made by filmmakers in scripting, directing, editing, and photographing narrative films. Attention will be paid to a wide variety of film periods and movie genres. We will also consider the qualities of reliable film reviews. All films will be viewed during class time.

Satisfies the Minor in Popular Literature & Film requirement.*

Satisfies the General Education Tier II: Disciplinary Area Courses "Arts" Requirement.*
