AKRON PARTNERSHIP

The University of Akron is located in the heart of the City of Akron. This class starts with the question, “How can we increase connectivity between University students and the City for mutual benefit?” Working with community partners, we will tackle this big question by actually DOING. You will meet community leaders. You will problem solve. You will launch ideas into the atmosphere. Your contribution will improve both the University and City, and you will learn about yourself in the process, too. [Un]classes fulfill an Honors Colloquia Requirement.
