Washington, DC – Paralegal – ACLU

AkronLawJobs No. 4453 - For more than 92 years, the American Civil Liberties Union Foundation (ACLU) has been at the forefront of virtually every major battle for civil liberties and equal justice in this country. Principled and nonpartisan, the ACLU has offices in all 50 states, Washington, DC and Puerto Rico, and brings together the country's largest team of public interest lawyers, lobbyists, communication strategists, and members and activists in the advancement of equality, fairness, and freedom, especially for the most vulnerable in our society.
The Program on Freedom of Religion and Belief of the ACLU’s National office in Washington, DC seeks applicants for the full-time position of Paralegal.

OVERVIEW: From its earliest days supporting conscientious objectors to war and defending John Scopes in the infamous “Monkey Trial” of 1925, the ACLU has worked tirelessly to defend the right to religious liberty nationwide. Today, the national ACLU’s Program on Freedom Religion and Belief protects this fundamental right by helping to ensure that governmental laws and practices neither promote religion nor interfere with its free exercise. The Program fights to preserve religious freedom and the right of individual conscience through an integrated strategy of litigation, education, and public advocacy.

The Paralegal is an integral member of the Program on Freedom of Religion and Belief.

ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES: Respond to requests for legal assistance, maintain the intake database and ensure timely responses to inquiries; Cite-check, edit, format, produce and serve litigation documents, including briefs, memoranda, and correspondence; Draft, edit, and prepare declarations, Freedom of Information Act requests, deposition summaries, and related materials, and review, organize, and maintain litigation and policy files; Conduct Internet and other factual research and collaborate with other Program staff in preparing background memoranda on selected litigation and policy issues.

Assist the Program attorneys with legislative tracking; Collect and analyze social science and other research for use in litigation and policy presentations; Maintain and ensure the accuracy of the Program’s litigation docket, calendar, and timekeeping system; Assist in the development and maintenance of the Program’s website and other public information outlets; Work with other national ACLU projects, ACLU state affiliates nationwide, and allies; Work on special projects and other duties as assigned by the Director and staff attorneys.

EXPERIENCE AND QUALIFICATIONS: A Bachelor’s degree is required, and one year of paralegal, or related experience, preferred; Excellent research and Internet research skills; Excellent oral and written communication skills; Must take initiative, be highly organized, detail-oriented and possess strong interpersonal and time-management skills; Strong computer skills with advanced knowledge in Microsoft Office Suite e.g. Outlook, Word, Excel, etc. Basic knowledge of Westlaw is preferred; Experience creating tables of contents, tables of authorities, mail merges, and creating/inserting macros; Ability to work independently as well as within a team; Commitment to the ACLU mission; Demonstrated interest in religious liberty issues is preferred. Deadline: ASAP

Washington DC – Federal Policy and Research Associate – ACLU

Overview: The ACLU’s Washington Legislative Office (WLO) is responsible for advancing the civil liberties agenda of the national ACLU before Congress and the Executive Branch. The Federal Policy and Research Associate will be knowledgeable on a wide range of civil liberties issues but will focus particular attention at the outset on immigrants’ rights generally and on proposed reforms to the nation’s immigration laws and policies.

Qualifications: Bachelor’s degree and a minimum of 2 years work experience researching and analyzing legislative and policy issues, with particular focus on immigrants’ rights issues. A solid understanding of issues related to federal immigration law and, in particular, legislative and policy proposals for immigration law reform, and the ability to communicate on such issues coherently and concisely. Deadline: ASAP

New York, NY – Paralegal – ACLU National Security Project

Overview: The National Security Project is part of the ACLU’s Center for Democracy, which works to strengthen democratic institutions and values, including the values of government transparency and accountability, and to reinforce the United States’ commitment to human rights and the rule of law. The Center for Democracy includes, in addition to the National Security Project, the Human Rights Program, and the Project on Speech, Privacy, and Technology. The Paralegal is an integral member of the National Security Project and will have the opportunity to learn about, and contribute to, all areas of the Project’s work.

Qualifications: A Bachelor’s degree is required, and one year of paralegal, or related experience, is preferred. A demonstrated interest in human rights and civil liberties issues relating to national security issues is preferred. Deadline: ASAP

New York Pro Bono Bar Admission Requirement: The New York Court of Appeals has recently adopted a new rule affecting applicants for bar admission in New York. In his Law Day address in May, 2012, Chief Judge Jonathan Lippman emphasized the need for additional resources to help ease the serious lack of legal services for those unable to pay for legal representation. Thousands of litigants appear pro se each year in New York courts, placing these litigants at a severe disadvantage in the legal system and detrimentally affects the administration of justice. One of Chief Judge Lippman's proposals for addressing this gap in access to justice is directed at encouraging pro bono activities, both by law students and the practicing bar. To improve the assistance available to unrepresented litigants and to ease the burden on legal services providers, Judge Lippman has spearheaded a new initiative that will require applicants for admission to the New York bar to demonstrate that they have performed 50 hours of qualifying pro bono work. Qualifying pro bono work must be law-related and conducted under the supervision of a law school faculty member, an attorney or a judge. The new rule (22 NYCRR 520.16) will take effect on January 1, 2015 so the graduates of the class of 2013 who seek bar admission in New York before the effective date will not need to comply with the new requirement. However, first- and second-year law students interested in practicing law in New York should begin acquiring their pro bono hours since those students will most likely apply for bar admission after the rule takes effect. The 50 hours of pro bono work is not a prerequisite for qualifying to take the New York bar examination, but the 50 hours of qualifying service must be completed before application for admission to the New York bar. The rule aims to instill in law students a greater appreciation of the fundamental responsibility of the legal profession to provide service to others, along with exposing law students to real-life legal issues. It is our hope that this rule will foster future members of the practicing bar who recognize the benefits of volunteering.
