

Summer 2022 Political Science Undergraduate Schedule of Classes

Comparative Politics

3700:300-501 (32008) 5W2 100% Online Asynchronous Dr. Gelleny
This course is designed to introduce students to different forms of political systems and the methods used to compare them. The political systems of several nations will be compared to demonstrate the concepts.

Intro to Political Research

3700:301-501 (31637) 5W1 100% Online Asynchronous Dr. Marcin
Introduction to the methods employed in contemporary political science research: research design, data collection and analysis, presentation and evaluation of findings.

Law & Society

3700:335-501 (32007) 5W1 100% Online Asynchronous Kimberly Hufgard
This course will examine how law constructs and constrains political conflict, and how legal institutions mediate, reinforce, and challenge existing power relationships.

Politics of Criminal Justice

3700:361-501 (31638) 5W1 100% Online Asynchronous Dr. McHugh
This course examines the interplay between politics and criminal justice to demonstrate the importance of political influences on the criminal justice system. Through a simulation exercise, students will learn how federal political actors and organizations help to formulate criminal justice policies on the federal, state, and local levels. Political forces on criminal justice in Ohio are also examined.

Internship

3700:395- (varies) Dr. Marion
Provides students with experiential learning experiences in their field of study.

Policy Probs: Political Science

3700:480-501 (32011) 5W1 100% Online Asynchronous Dr. Coffey
Intensive study of selected problems in public policy.

Selected Topics: Terrorism and Film

3700:492-501 (32009) 5W2 Online Synchronous, MTWTHF, 11:00 – 12:40 p.m. Dr. Kaltenthaler
This course examines how terrorism is reflected in movies and films.

Selected Topics: American Campaigns in Film

3700:492-502 (31760) INT Online Synchronous, MTWTHF 8:00 – 10:30 a.m. Dr. Cohen
This course examines the portrayal and representation of American campaigns, campaign consultants, and elections through cinema. The course will consist of viewing and analyzing films that focus on the American campaign and election process, the individuals running those campaigns, and the individuals running for office. After completion of the course, students will have a greater understanding of the history, traditions, powers, and potential of the American election system as viewed through film, as well as an appreciation of the important role that movies play in shaping how the public views politics.