

HAVE YOU CRACKED THE CODE?

Globally Harmonized System (GHS) pictograms are a world-wide standard for communicating the hazards of a material.

These pictograms are posted directly on the label of the original container the material comes in, and may also be found in the SDS.

Learn the hazards associated with the GHS pictograms, and take the proper cautions in handling and storing.

SAFETY FOCUS NOV. 2019

GHS Pictograms

EXPLOSIVE

Can react violently and explode, including self-reacting

FLAMMABLE

Fire hazards, Pyrophorics, Combustibles

CORROSIVE

Burns skin & eyes, Corrosive to metal

OXIDIZER

May cause or intensify fire

COMPRESSED GAS

Gas under pressure

IRRITANT / HARMFUL

Skin sensitizer, Eye irritant, Respiratory irritant, Harmful if swallowed

TOXIC

Harmful or fatal if inhaled, ingested, or absorbed

HEALTH HAZARD

Carcinogens, Mutagens, Teratogens, Targets organs, May damage fertility

ENVIRONMENTAL HAZARD

Toxic to aquatic life