

Ziptastic winner for October announced

The Staff Employee Advisory Committee (SEAC) is pleased to announce the October Ziptastic Award recipient is Terry Michaels, coordinator of operations in the Department of Military Science and Leadership.

Michaels was anonymously nominated by a group identified as the "Schrank South Pin Hole Viewers." On the Solar Eclipse Day on Aug. 22, 2017, Michaels "kindly shared" his pair of official ISO-approved glasses with a group of employees who had made pin hole viewers. "He gave us a much better experience of viewing the solar eclipse than we would have had otherwise! His kindness was appreciated. He is a true example of the 'Ziptastic spirit' we should all strive for. Thank you, Terry!"

He is pictured above with Amy Stevens, a laboratory technologist in the School of Nutrition and Dietetics, and a member of the "anonymous nominating group."

Michaels earned a degree in accounting here in 1986. While at UA, he enrolled in the U.S. Army ROTC program and was commissioned as an officer in the Army upon graduation. He was in the Army for 24 years, with service worldwide, and retired in 2010.

Joining his alma mater in in 2012, Michaels is the enrollments and scholarship officer in the Department of Military Science and Leadership. He works to enroll freshman students into the Army ROTC classes and helps students get Army ROTC scholarships for those interested in continuing the classes along with their major and being commissioned as second lieutenants upon graduation.

Please congratulate Terry Michaels if you see him on campus.
