Please make an effort to congratulate Danica Houle, coordinator of administrative services in the College of Business Administration Dean's Office, who is the winner of the Ziptastic Award for October.

Houle has worked in the CBA Dean's Office since joining UA 11 years ago. She provides administrative support to the dean and associate dean. She also directs the general administrative business of the CBA Dean's Office, which includes human resources management, event planning, and serving as a liaison between departments within and outside the college.

"This nomination has taken me by complete surprise," says Houle. "I am blessed to work with people who appreciate my talents and in a college that values my contributions."

Houle was nominated for the honor by Dr. James B. Thomson, professor and chair of the Department of Finance.

"Twice in the past three years Danica has taken on extra work after the finance department admin left her position for another job," says Thomson. "There were a number of high profile events planned by the Department of Finance that would not have been possible if Danica had not stepped up to the plate and provided excellent support and advice.

"I truly appreciate her dedication, her high standards, and the kind and professional demeanor she brings to every aspect of her work," Thomson continues. "She goes above and beyond what is expected, even when she is picking up the equivalent of a second job in supporting departments in the CBA."
