

2016 Association Meeting

Creed of the National Panhellenic Conference

We, as undergraduate members of women's fraternities, stand for good scholarship, for guarding of good health, for maintenance of fine standards, and for serving, to the best of our ability, our college community. Cooperation for furthering fraternity life, in harmony with its best possibilities, is the ideal that shall guide our fraternity activities. We, as fraternity women, stand for service through the development of character inspired by the close contact and deep friendship of individual fraternity and Panhellenic life. The opportunity for wide and wise human service, through mutual respect and helpfulness, is the tenet by which we strive to live.

President: Rebecca Schaming

Responsibilities:

Oversee all activities of the Panhellenic Council

Serve as the campus representative on the behalf of the Panhellenic community, the recruitment team, extension, and Circle of Sisterhood committee.

“I am from a small town called Toronto, Ohio graduating with only a little over 50 students. I will always be a country girl at heart even living in the city. I am a Business Organizational Communications major with a specialization in Public Relations with a minor in Professional Selling”.

AFLV

The conference that the councils attended is known as the Association of Fraternal Leadership and Values Central Conference (AFLV). This is the largest Greek conference that housed over 3,200 fraternity and sorority members. It was part educational, in which the members who attended were able to visit many different educational blocks that pertained to their position on each council, and part awards and assessment, in which the 8 large awards binders that each council had completed in December was assessed.

Panhellenic was recognized in 7 categories of leadership and was awarded the Sutherland Award, which dignifies them as the top council in Division I.

Division I excellence dignifies the University of Akron as the top operating council amongst other PHCs that are made up of 1-5 sororities.

Social Media

“Every recruiter that I know, every HR person that I know are all using tools that integrate social media into the way that companies filter through applicants for jobs. This is accelerating,” Slayter said. Mary Ellen Slayter is a career expert with Monster.

•It is becoming more common for a social media presence to be looked at to judge an applicant's suitability. Social media has given companies a window beyond your resume into your life. Employers use it to see if you would be a good image for their company.

•“One of the things they want to do, in addition to checking out [the applicant's] Facebook, companies ask for access beyond their privacy settings. They like people to ‘friend’ them so they have better access to their full page,” Kirk Holland said.

•If you're going to share your life with the internet, you have to manage it. (Try posting with a purpose.)

Sorority Women Making a Global Impact

Founder's Story

- In 2009, Ginny Carroll read the book “Half the Sky: Turning Oppression into Opportunity for Women Worldwide”
- The book revealed the brutal truth about the issues affecting girls and women across the globe.
- The book also revealed that education was a big part of the answer.
- Ginny tapped her sorority network and within one year the CofS was born to leverage the influence of sorority women to remove barriers to education for girls and women worldwide.
