

What is dotCMS - and How Do I Get Access?

What it is:

dotCMS is a Content Management System we use to build and maintain the main University of Akron website. This system is managed by the UA webteam and hosted “in the cloud” (on an external server).

Colleges, departments, and groups ("organizations") maintain their own content on the site by utilizing faculty, staff, and student assistants as Editors.

The webteam maintains the overall system and provides general technical support as well as direct oversight on forms and other interactive elements.

You can contact the webteam by email if you have any questions or concerns:

web-team@lists.uakron.edu

How do I get access?

1. Contact the UA webteam (web-team@lists.uakron.edu).
2. Indicate the folder(s) you need to access: i.e. /webteam/
3. Indicate your UAnet ID: i.e. aws123
4. Carbon your immediate supervisor – or whomever is currently responsible for the site – on the emailed request.

The webteam will set up your access and contact you to help you get started.
