E. Faculty Senate. Ali Hajjafar reported:

Faculty Senate Meeting Report, May 2020

Chair Saliga called the meeting to order via WebEx. In her remark, she welcomed provost John Weincek to the UA family. She said the provost has asked the Executive Committee of the senate to comment on a spreadsheet the deans provided that was designed to shrink the number of colleges to five. She said the EC shared their suggestions and questions. Subsequently he shared the information with university community. She said provost actions are clear indication of believing in shared governance. She announced that senate would be having a special meeting to give its input on this redesign. The special meeting is scheduled for tomorrow May 22nd.

President Miller in his remark thanked everyone and noted few members of BOTs that were present. He also admired faculty for adapting to this situation and their work with students. He said the community members are impressed with the University and the way students have been served. He mentioned that there is a huge financial challenge that the University faces. He said we are planning to open in the fall, although we are not sure how. He said at present we are not concerned with how we got into this situation; rather what we are concerned about is solutions moving forward. He said this is a more coordinated effort and we are excited about it. WE build on our strength and bring a greater interdisciplinary to our university. Organic innovations will come out of this and we think we’ll be in a better position to meet the need of our students and provost is the leader in all of these. He said the sense of BOT is to have Division 1 athletics moving forward, although bringing the cost down. He said we are working with a lot of energy to work with potential donors, talking to foundations and engaging student leaders, talking to the community at large and the state legislators, regular discussions with city and county officials, developing protocols for opening the doors in fall, and recruiting our next class of Zips and their orientation. He finished his remark by saying we’re asking the university to work smartly and fast and have commitment to do this. There were a lot of questions and answers mostly about reorganization and money saved.

Provost Weincek in his remark thanked everyone including search committee and president. He said these are difficult times but he left a university that is dealing with the same kind of difficulties. He said we need to make best decisions we can. There will be some small mistakes on the way, but will work with everyone engaged and involved. He said he asked president Miller to start a month early because he wanted to be here helping to chart the future of the UA. He said the University’s future is his future. He said reflecting on the past on some pretty substantial changes brought and it hasn’t gone well, we are entering into a time of hard decisions and decisions that people are going to be upset about. That being said we have a daunting task and if we look for ways to avoid the tough decisions we are damaging students who have chosen the UA and all that is in jeopardy if we don’t make these choices. He said Deans have put their best effort into this, common needs, cultural overlaps, and come together to talk. about administrative structures that are more alike than different. They tried to bring together people with similar priorities. He said he has asked FSEC and UCEC to look at it. He said it would be hard to compare what we will be with what we were. Ultimately we have to build a sustainable university and position ourselves for future success. Get away from discussion about cuts and what disappears and move towards a university that uses quarter billion dollars and makes good citizens. He concluded his remark by saying he is receptive to ideas and alternative approaches.
