This authority to act as General Counsel of the University may be terminated by the Attorney General or the Board of Trustees only after appropriate notice to the other party and adequate consultation concerning the reason for the termination.

In the event a vacancy occurs in the Office of the General Counsel as the result of such a request, the University may, at its discretion, continue this individual in service to the University in some other position provided that: 1) the individual does not practice law in any way on behalf of the University, 2) the legal representation of the University remains within the control of the Attorney General as provided by law, 3) the terms of this
